

Hustler - I Got Your Impeachment, Right Here!

by peakdavid [Unsubscribe]

Tue Jan 09, 2007 at 01:21:36 PM PST

Let's be mature about this:

Hustler magazine's latest issue devotes its lead article ("Was 9/11 An Inside Job?") to "new scientific evidence" that the destruction of the WTC towers was an inside job. This evidence from university and industry scientists and engineers, while certainly not new in journalistic terms, suggests the towers were likely brought down by controlled demolition.

Hustler's effort comes almost exactly one year after Maxim's considerably longer and more indepth feature of March 2006 that asks "What Really Brought Down the Towers?"

up the White House's involvement so successfully that Nixon was overwhelmingly re-elected before the Senate investigation began a year later and impeachment two years later.

And yet today important 9/11 investigations are being carried out exclusively in America (not so in Canada, Europe and elsewhere) by private individuals, university professors, ad hoc nonprofit groups, and the editorial staffs of Hustler and Maxim. See for yourself: list of MSM coverage of 9/11 during 2006.

Most important, America's MSM, which have yet to devote any significant investigative resources to examining the official story, are quick to label those who pursue investigations, write books, produce documentaries, and stage 9/11 Truth Conferences as "conspiracy nuts"--a label that also serves as a career warning to other writers and producers.

Thus, Hustler. Thus, Maxim.

But unless we are willing to call Woodard and Bernstein of the 1970s "conspiracy nuts," perhaps we should think twice about doing so to anyone who is serious and honest about the investigative work being done on 9/11.

Yes, there are 9/11 conspiracy nuts out there, just as there are other varieties of wingnuts on the left and right--irrational folk who don't deserve the time of day and probably wouldn't believe it if you showed them your Rolex Oyster. But the nutcases dwell on the fringe of this conversation and play no substantive role in a serious consideration of a topic as important as 9/11.

But what about the "nut" charges against honest, productive people? Or as someone on DailyKos responded to me once when I merely mentioned in a comment a "9/11 cover up" as a reason for impeachment: "We don't do conspiracy theories around here." She then troll-rated me.

Such ridicule and thoughtless dismissals are tried-and-true political tactics, but often they are also the result of personal denial. The theologian and author David Ray Griffin, in one of his many presentations on 9/11, talked about two kinds of myths: (1) those that embody falsehoods and (2) those that embody our most cherished beliefs.

Nationalism is a set of beliefs taught to each generation in which the Motherland or the Fatherland is an object of veneration and becomes a burning cause for which one becomes willing to kill the children of other Motherlands or Fatherlands. ~ Howard Zinn

The official story of 9/11 certainly captures a mythic America--a land of democracy and peaceful people attacked by evil haters of our shining accomplishments and steadfast morality. The honoring of that myth, woven into the fabric of good Americans, often precludes the doubting of the official 9/11 story and the willingness to consider the consequences of government complicity, if proven.

I was among those who initially encountered significant personal difficulty when attempting to confront the official contradictions, uncertainties and outright falsehoods of the government's 9/11 story. The DailyKos diarist One Pissed Off Liberal captures many of the nuances of this personal challenge for me:

We all cling to certain untruths for a variety of reasons. They are comfortable or comforting, they are traditional, they are beloved, they are habitual, or they are kept in a place that does not allow them to be questioned. People tend to cling to these untruths with a ferocious tenacity. Not all of them are harmful of course, but many are.

--Listening to the Grownups

In this regard we live today in a divided America, occupied by those who accept the official government story of 9/11; and those who suspect we do not know the truth about key events of that day or about our government's possible role in them.

The 9/11 journey is about crossing a personal Rubyicon into the land of questions, doubt and inevitable confrontation with those who wish either to hide the truth or to hide from it. Most important, the journey is about asking questions and examining information in a careful, responsible way. Without prejudice. Whenever those questions lead.

Asking these questions and finding answers are as important now as they ever were in our history. More important in many ways, of course, since 9/11 has become the basis for major changes within and outside our borders, changes that include 100,000s of deaths in prolonged military conflicts based upon the "Global War of Terror" that was launched in response to the attacks of that day.

Because of 9/11, there have also been historic changes in American civil liberties, as well as changes in the kinds of acts that Americans will tolerate when committed in their name--kidnappings, torture, indefinite detentions, and more.

If you don't think that our government is capable of participating in the destruction and misery of the 9/11 attacks, consider what was allowed to happen to the fire fighters, residents, office workers and others who had to clean up Lower Manhattan. Documentation from the EPA's own internal watchdog detailed the risks of breathing air laced with micro-particles of asbestos, lead,

and mercury--air with the alkalinity of Drano. Yet that documentation was "edited" by the White House, and workers were told the air was safe, Wall Street should reopen, and reconstruction should begin. Result? Today nearly 70% of 9/11 first responders suffer from debilitating respiratory illnesses. Most will have the illnesses the rest of their abbreviated lives.

"I am relieved to be able to reassure New York and New Jersey residents that a host of potential contaminants are either not detectable or are below the Agency's concern levels."

~ EPA Head Christine Tood Whitman, Sept. 21, 2001

"The air quality is safe and acceptable."

~ New York City Mayor Rudy Giuliani. Sept. 28, 2001

"No reasonable person would have thought that telling thousands of people that it was safe to return to lower Manhattan, while knowing that such return could pose long-term health risks and other dire consequences, was conduct sanctioned by our laws. The allegations in this case of Whitman's reassuring and misleading statements of safety after the Sept. 11, 2001 attacks are without question conscience-shocking."

~ Federal Judge Deborah Batts, Feb. 6, 2006, decision allowing class-action suit to move forward and refusing to grant immunity to officials

A key to crossing the personal Rubicon is to become aware of the common use of false flag terror in America's history. From Operation Gladio to Operation Northwoods--our government has a rich history of attacking or planning to attack its own citizens and blaming the event on an enemy in order to mobilize support for military action.

If I told you that our Joint Chiefs of Staff were planning to stage attacks on US cities and kill 100s of Americans sailors with remote controlled hijacked planes in order to justify an invasion of a sovereign nation, you would call me a "conspiracy nut."

But you would be dead wrong.

James Bamford's 2001 Body of Secrets reported on just such a plan from 1962 called "Operation Northwoods," which was drawn up and approved by the Joint Chiefs of Staff and delivered to Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara by the Joint Chiefs Chair, General Lyman Lemnitzer. Now that's a conspiracy. And a nut.

An aberration, you say?

Sure. And if you like aberrations as well as coincidences, you're gonna love taking a peek behind the veil of the official 9/11 story. You might even fall in love.

Part II of this diary will examine the physical evidence presented in the Hustler article of controlled demolition being used the Twin Towers and WTC7.

Daily Kos: Hustler - I Got Your Impeachment, Right Here! - Mozilla Firefox

File Edit View Go Bookmarks Yahoo! Tools Help

http://www.dailynos.com/story/2007/1/9/162136/7528

Tags: Troll diary, Banned diary, FAQ's, 9/11, conspiracy, history, mainstream media (all tags)

Permalink | 65 comments | Post A Comment | Autorefresh | Edit Diary

Comments: Expand Shrink Hide (Always) | Indented Flat (Always)

▼ This diary needs more pictures! nt. (4+ / 0-)

Freep this poll!

by spartan68 on Tue Jan 09, 2007 at 01:21:50 PM PST
 [Reply to This | Recommend]

▼ Where did I put that image... (0 / 0)

... i'm sure it's around here somewhere. You know the one i'm talking about. The guy with the hand pressed to his forehead.

by Crazierl on Tue Jan 09, 2007 at 01:22:52 PM PST
 [Reply to This | Recommend]

▼ tell it to the morans! (0 / 0)

(where's that picture....dammit)

we'll stand him up against a wall and pop goes the weasel /rufus t. firefly

by 2nd balcony on Tue Jan 09, 2007 at 01:49:12 PM PST
 [Parent | Reply to This | Recommend]

▼ Not Convinced by Chertoff's Nephew's Articles? (0 / 0)

In Popular Science (Mechanics ?) when he debunked those myths for the folks at Hearst?

by bernardpliers on Tue Jan 09, 2007 at 01:24:09 PM PST
 [Reply to This | Recommend]

▼ "Those myths"? (1+ / 0-)

Unfortunately I'm not able to respond. I'm not sure which magazine, which articles or which myths you are referring to. PM published an article as did Science. They were good articles that added much to the debate.

Give me liberty, or give me a gun.

by peakdavid on Tue Jan 09, 2007 at 01:30:18 PM PST
 [Parent | Reply to This]

▼ edit your tags (0 / 0)

Someone is messing with your diary.

Verify before Rec'ing a diary. Click username. Check prior diaries and comments. Ask yourself: is this a trustworthy user?

by joel3000 on Tue Jan 09, 2007 at 01:38:08 PM PST
 [Parent | Reply to This | Recommend]

ILLEGAL

Our anti-war shirt is illegal in 2 states & may soon be banned nationwide. Now features names of 2,803 fallen troops. As seen on CNN, NPR, FOX, USA Today, etc. Get yours before it's too late! Shirts, magnetic bumper stickers, fridge magnets, bike stickers, etc. BE NICE TO AMERICA OR WE'LL BRING DEMOCRACY TO YOUR COUNTRY. IF YOU'RE NOT OUTRAGED, YOU'RE NOT PAYING ATTENTION. WHO WOULD JESUS TORTURE? IMPEACH BUSH! Many other great liberal slogans. CarryBigSticker.com. Enter code KOS for 5% off.

★ Read more...

Join High Country News in Berkeley!

What's in store for the West's public lands, water and communities now that the political tables have turned? Join former Interior Department solicitor John Leshy, national Sierra Club conservation director Bruce Hamilton, William and Flora Hewlett Foundation environmental program officer Rhea Suh and High Country News publisher Paul Larmer for a frank discussion of the West's changing political landscape. Saturday, January 20th from 7-9 p.m. at Krutch Theater on Clark Kerr Campus.

★ Read more...

Resist the Urge to Surge!

Tell Bush what you think about his proposed military "surge" in Iraq. "Resist the Urge to Surge" on T-shirts, mugs, bumper stickers and more...

★ Read more...

Advertise here

Join E! Now!

Support Bloggers' Rights!

Candidates

Blue Majority Candidates

Daily Kos: Hustler - I Got Your Impeachment, Right Here! - Mozilla Firefox

File Edit View Go Bookmarks Yahoo! Tools Help

http://www.dailykos.com/story/2007/1/9/162136/7528

▼ Thanks but wouldn't that result in tit-for-tat?nt (0 / 0)

Give me liberty, or give me a gun.

by peakdavid on Tue Jan 09, 2007 at 01:47:45 PM PST
[Parent | Reply to This]

▼ maybe (0 / 0)

But it's not a big deal. You have the right as the diarist so might as well protect your work. Editing tags is not a large time investment.

Verify before Rec'ing a diary. Click username. Check prior diaries and comments. Ask yourself: is this a trustworthy user?

by joel3000 on Tue Jan 09, 2007 at 01:57:05 PM PST
[Parent | Reply to This | Recommend]

▼ This is BS - CAN IT !!!! (0 / 0)

Controversial 9/11 Diaries

DailyKos accepts that the 9/11 attacks were perpetrated by agents of Al-Qaeda. It is forbidden to write diaries that:

1. refer to claims that American, British, Israeli, or any government assisted in the attacks
2. refer to claims that the airplanes that crashed into the WTC and Pentagon were not the cause of the damage to those buildings or their subsequent collapse

Authoring or recommending these diaries may result in banning from Daily Kos.

(-7.63,-6.21) Between Nelson Mandela and the Dalai Lama - Huh, and I'm a moderate Democrat with a VOTEBLUE tattoo.

by ezdidit on Tue Jan 09, 2007 at 02:01:11 PM PST
[Parent | Reply to This | Recommend]

▼ David, did you put those tags on your diary? (0 / 0)

Or did somebody else?

(-7.63,-6.21) Between Nelson Mandela and the Dalai Lama - Huh, and I'm a moderate Democrat with a VOTEBLUE tattoo.

by ezdidit on Tue Jan 09, 2007 at 01:24:30 PM PST
[Reply to This | Recommend]

▼ No, I didn't put them there (nt) (0 / 0)

Give me liberty, or give me a gun.

by peakdavid on Tue Jan 09, 2007 at 01:26:51 PM PST
[Parent | Reply to This]